“We had very positive feedback at the Digital Cambodia Expo 2019”, said Co-Founder Sorida Nhim. “It encourages us to expand our host network all over Cambodia soon”. Dine With The Locals started in January with hosts in Siem Reap, but already signed up more in Phnom Penh, Battambang and Banteay Meanchey, and has more cities in South-East-Asia on the radar. “We are in talks with partners in Vietnam, Indonesia and Malaysia, they are interested in the concept and the platform” says Thomas Wanhoff. The plan for 2020 is to grow and become one of the top 5 platforms for local food experiences in the region. “Our advantages are local knowledge, passion for food and local culture, but also experience in quality services management, hospitality and marketing”, says Sorida Nhim. “Khmer families can contact us, if they want to become a host. There is no investment needed, its free, they can earn some additional and promote Cambodia food and culture.”

Travelers can choose from a variety of hosts. Each hosts provides a set menu with three Cambodian dishes and further experiences. The food is authentic local food.

“After we secured an initial funding we are looking now for more investors to be able to grow as fast as we would like to. The traveler market is ready, and we have good feedbacks from tour operators and local DMC. One promoted us at the Berlin ITB, the biggest tourism fair in the world.”
